Here and There

A daughter, and a first lieutenant's commission in the Army, are two acquisitions made by Orlo T h o m a s, formerly of the Hydro Plant, since he left Aruba early last year. The daughter, Susan Ann, was born October 13 at Monterey, California. A recent letter from Orlo said he had just applied for entrance in the Army School of Military Government.

Clippings from "The Gleaner", a Jamaican newspaper, report the awarding of the M.B.E. in the New Year's Honors List to Herbert Fraser, who is private secretary to the Governor of Leeward Islands. The new M.B.E. is the brother of Walter Fraser of Colony Service.

Former Employee Listed Missing Is Prisoner of War in Thailand

Andrew Knox, former Timekeeping department employee who had been listed officially as missing ever since the Japanese took Singapore, is a prisoner of war in Thailand, according to news received here from his wife in England.

Knox, who was from Trinidad, left the Company in June, 1940, to join the British army. He married a Welsh nurse before going overseas, and reached Singapore not long before its fall.

His wife received a prisoner of war card from him on New Year's Day, 1944. The card, addressed in pencil and apparently six or eight months on the way, contained only six printed phrases, two of which he had crossed out, leaving "I am interned in Thailand, my health is excellent, I am working for pay, hope you are well, Andy".

As thin as this information was, it was the first indication his wife had that he was still alive, and the first word she had had from him in over two back? It belongs to Dick Smith, and was photographed when he divided his time between being Technician at the Hospital and being an enthusiastic fisherman. At last reports he is a sergeant, at a military hospital in Georgia.

Another soldier recently heard from was Sergeant Carl Pattison, who left school here in May, 1940. Since then he has seen service in Africa and in the Italian campaign.

Following a paragraph in the last News telling of the vast number of persons applying at the Lago Police office for passes last year, the transportation section of the Personnel department gives evidence that they too were busy as one-armed paperhangers

Organization Changes

Effective January 18, Assistant General Manager F. S. Campbell assumed the supervision of the Mechanical and Colony Service departments, and Assistant General Manager J. J. Horigan assumed supervision of the Process and Technical Service departments. This constitutes an exchange of duties between the two executives, with the exception that Mr. Campbell will continue to be Chairman of the Operating Committee and the Salary Committee, as in the past. Mr. Horigan takes over the Chairmanship of the joint meetings with Management of the Foreign Staff Employees' Council and the Employees' Advisory Committee.

At the same time, B. Teagle was appointed to the position of Industrial Relations Manager, becoming a member of the Executive Committee, and F. J. Getts was appointed Personnel Manager, becoming a member of the Operating Committee.

in 1943. In fact, to them it might be known as the Great In and Out Year.

In the twelvemonth period they arranged transportation, a complicated procedure in wartime, for 5,727 persons, using schooner, steamship, and air travel (which includes every means of arriving or departing short of submarines, which are not available). That is an average of 18 and a half employees or family members leaving or arriving every working day throughout the year.

Visiting by Children at Hospital To Be Limited

With the dual purpose of preventing exposure of small children to the possibility of infection, and increasing the comfort and well-being of patients in the Hospital, restrictions will be placed on visiting by children after February 15.

Effective February 15, children under the age of seven years will not be permitted to accompany those who visit patients in the Lago Hospital. (An exception will be that in cases where a child's mother or father is a patient, special permission may be secured from the Head Nurse for the child to visit during the afternoon hours only.)

The regulation is well-founded in practical reasons, chief of which is the protection of children's health. While adult visitors to a hospital are not greatly exposed to the dangers of infection, children are to a considerable extent, because of playing on floors and other places where the presence of bacteria is inevitable.

Except for members of the immediate family, no visitors to obstetrical cases will be permitted until the sixth post-delivery day. In these cases the baby is brought into the mother's room at frequent intervals through the day, and during the first five days it is exceptionally susceptible to infections which might be brought in by visitors. At the same time it is undesirable for the patient to receive visitors before a five-day interval after delivery. This regulation also is common to most hospitals.

Farewells were said at the M. & C. office February 2 to Guy Permaul, who left last week "to see what the United States looks like", after eight years' service here. Gifts from his fellow-employees included a wristwatch, tie and clasp, and a signed scroll. Mr. Permaul appears in the pictures of the group between Louise Hassell and Cicely d'Abreu, who made the presentation.

In five months of operation the Safety Sweepstakes brought approximately Fls. 5,000 into employees' pockets.

That figure is exact and definite, and the monetary gain is of concrete value to the men and women who received the prizes. Not easily reckoned, however, is the broader value of the contest, in keeping employees thinking Safety, and, more important, acting Safely.

If the contest prevented just one serious accident it was worthwhile; if it helped to bring home to all employees the value of Safety it was immensely valuable.

The hope of getting a cash prize is a big incentive. A bigger and better incentive, one that operates all the time, is freedom from the pain, injury, and loss that accompany accidents. And no less potent is the duty every employee has to his family, the responsibility to be and continue to be a good provider.

Work Safely - For Safety's Sake.

Vicious-looking little villains, with a needle-sharp tail that strikes a minute quantity of poison into their victim when disturbed, these scorpions are not so deadly as they look or as their reputation holds. As in a bee sting, ammonia or cold compresses applied to the spot stung will help to relieve some of the pain.

Safety Sweepstakes Grand Prize Winners Share 1,600 Guilders

Thirty-two employees in 20 departments found substantial profit in the Safety Sweepstakes January 28 when the Bond Fortuna results were announced. In this drawing, for the Grand Prizes in the Sweepstakes, 219 employees held full tickets won for safety records from August to December inclusive.

Carlos Odor of Accounting had specia reason to be pleased with his department's safety record, since he drew a Fls. 25 prize in the December contest, and another Fls. 50 in the Grand Prize drawing.

It has been announced that the Safety Sweepstakes in essentially its present form will continue in the present year.

The Grand Prizes for the last five months of 1943, all of Fls. 50, were won by:

When You Can Get Them-

A bureau in Washington has listed the different combinations used currently in synthetic rubber tires, along with their technical names:

S-1. —80 per cent synthetic tread on natural rubber carcass.

S-2. —50 per cent synthetic tread on a natural rubber carcass.

S-3. —100 per cent synthetic tread, 100 per cent synthetic carcass, an all-synthetic tire.

S-4.—90 per cent synthetic, 10 per cent natural rubber, distributed throughout the casing as the manufacturer may desire

S-5. —100 per cent synthetic tread on natural rubber carcass.

S-6. —70 per cent synthetic, 30 per cent natural rubber, distributed throughout the casing as the manufacturer may desire.

S-7. —Alternate for S-5 permitting the manufacturer to vary the amounts of synthetic and natural between carcass and tread.

A lot of dust will blow down the road, continues the article, before you will be able to buy any of these types of rubber substitute tires without a ration certificate, but there is a note of encouragement in the fact that production of synthetic rubber tires is being speeded up and is expected to get in full swing sometime in the spring of 1944.

When eight closely-bunched sailboats try to get around a buoy at once in a light wind, there is certain to be some confusion, and there was, at this first turn in the second race January 30. (They eventually got straightened out, with no broken gear, and Lenny Teagle went on to win, after having copped the morning race also). To a photographer, however, an equally important part of the proceedings is the scene above, taken unawares of the Yacht Club's armchair sailors watching the race from the clubhouse.
